DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Pasotti et al., 6,535,428, in view of Conte et al., 6,320,808.

Pasotti et al., 6,535,428, discloses in Fig. 1 a non-volatile memory device comprising:

reference cells RC1 and RC2;

first load n-channel transistor MN1;

nonvolatile memory cells MC1 and MC2;

second load n-channel transistor MN2;

as shown in Fig. 3, control circuit 13 comprising: feedback amplifier OP1 and reference voltage generator 30.

What is not shown in Fig. 1 of Pasotti et al., 6,535,428, is the first and second load PMOS transistors as recited in claim 6. However, one of ordinary skill in the art would have been obvious under 35 USC 103(a) to interchange between the NMOS transistor and the PMOS transistor. It is just a matter of desired choice and polarity.

Art Unit: 2827

What is not shown in Pasotti et al., 6,535,428, is the first and second voltage limiter as recited in claim 8.

Conte et al., 6,320,808, discloses in Fig. 1 Prior Art the teaching of using of diode-connected PMOS transistor and inverter connected directly to reference cell 1 and nonvolatile memory cell 2.

It would have been obvious under 35 USC 103(a) to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify Pasotti et al., 6,535,428, by Conte et al., 6,320,808, for the purpose of limiting the voltage (see lines 57-63, column 1).

Conclusion

3. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Hashimoto, 5,717,640, Suh, 5,814,851, Hirano et al., 6,912,161, La Placa, 6,097,633, Homma et al., 6,532,174, Gerna et al., 5,973,959, and Yero, 5,859,798.
